MAN WHO TRIED TO KILL J. P. MORGAN KILLS SELF IN JAIL

Mystery Concerning Death of Avaliant of J. P. Morgan—
Conflicting Reports.

Mineola, N. Y., July 6.—Frank Holt, the Cornell University professor, who shot J. P. Morgan in his home near Glen Cove last ingeCAP enothES Saturday, committed suicide in the jail here tonight.

While several of the jail authorities declare that Holt killed himself by climbing through the opening at the top of his cell door and then plunging to the narrow court below, Holt's keeper said he was positive that the prisoner was killed in his own cell where he said he found the body.

There were many conflicting reports as to the manner in which Holt met his death, but it was definitely established through Dr. Cleghorn, the jail physician, that Holt died of a fractured skull.

Several of those about the jail said they heard an explosion, the report coming from Holt's cell. The noise, it was believed, was due to the falling of a board from the top of the cell.

B. M. GRANBERRY BURIED AT SEA

Montgomery, Ala., July 6.—Hopes which had been held out for the life of B. M. Granberry, brother of Mrs. W. W. Seidle of Montgomery, were shattered Tuesday by a cable from Consul Armstrong to the Department of State, telling of Granberry's death and burial at sea, resulting from wounds caused by a bursting shell when the "Armenian" was torpedoed off Cornwall by a submarine.

He died after being taken off the ship in a small boat. His mother, who resides with Mrs. Seidle, is visiting relatives in Dothan.

Houston County Banner Singing Convention Convenes at Beau- lah Church, July 3rd.

The president of the convention, J. G. B. Watson, being absent, Brother M. Roney was elected to act as president. The convention was called to order by a song led by the president, after which prayer was offered by J. W. Pittman. A short business session followed in which J. W. Pittman was elected secretary and the following arranging committee was appointed by the president: Bros. C. F. Watson, J. A. Ethridge and Eritus Whiddon. While the committee was preparing a report, Brother Joe Peacock, one of the best singers in the county, led the class in two or three fine selections.

The committee reported a lesson by two, first, I. W. Brackins, followed by J. A. Ethridge, three pieces each. Organist, Miss Jewel Clark. Recess ten minutes.

After recess the president called the convention to order by a song, and the committee reported the following lesson by two, three pieces each, first Chas. Bowen, followed by B. M. Killingsworth. Organist, Miss Eldora Kinsey.

The afternoon session was again called to order by the president, who sang one song, after which the committee reported a lesson by two, three pieces each, first by Sam Brackins followed by W. C. Quattlebaum. Organist, Prof. O. L. Tharp. Recess 10 minutes.

At this juncture of the singing C. F. Watson stated that there was a treat in store for the convention on account of two very distinguished singers and song-writers, Professors O. L. Tharp and T. P. Berry, appearing on the scene. The president then turned the convention over to them, who conducted the services in a way that fully verified Bro. Watson's statement.

After three or four excellent selections by these visitors, the committee reported the closing lesson by two, first C. F. Watson, followed by Prof. T. P. Berry. Organist, Prof. O. L. Tharp. After this lesson the president sang two or three songs and requested Rev. A. P. Peacock to close the convention with prayer. Bro. Peacock asked permission to sing "Beautiful Land," after which he dismissed the convention with prayer.

NEW MINISTER IS COMMENDED IN RESOLUTIONS

Mr. G. H. Malone has received a letter from Mr. Geo. Hauenstein, cashier of the First National Bank of Commerce, of Hattiesburg, Miss., enclosing some resolutions passed by the congregation in Hattiesburg, until recently served by Rev. R. L. Campbell who comes to Dothan, as pastor of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Hauenstein is a member of this congregation and from his letter and the resolutions it will be seen what a valuable citizen Dothan has acquired in Mr. Campbell.

The Letter.

Hattiesburg, Miss., July 3, 1915
Mr. G. H. Malone,
Dothan, Ala.

Dear Mr. Malone:
Dothan has taken our preacher away from us, and in leaving us some resolutions were passed by his congregation in connection with his departure, and they provide that a copy be sent to a newspaper in your city. Not knowing the name of your paper, I am taking the liberty of enclosing them to you herein, and will request that you hand them to your newspaper, and they can use their discretion about publishing them.

I refer to the Rev. R. L. Campbell, who became the pastor of your Presbyterian church there, and we take pleasure in commending him to you as a pastor and citizen.

With regards, I remain,
Yours very truly,
Geo. J. Hauenstein.

The Resolutions.

Whereas, we have heard with much regret the request of our beloved pastor, the Rev. R. L. Campbell, that we join him in a request to Meridian Presbytery to dissolve his pastoral relations with this church, and his official relations with this Presbytery, and

Whereas, Brother Campbell was the first pastor called by Bay Street church at its organization, and has served it continuously and faithfully during the past nine years, and

Whereas, he has been a powerful factor in its growth and progress from the date of its birth even till now, having suffered with it if there was suffering, and rejoiced with it if there was rejoicing; he has not failed to point out the way, to plead with his people, and to exhort them to be strong in the Master's cause at all times, having always stood firmly for the highest ideals and principles of Christianity with special zeal for the spread of the gospel to and in remote fields, an evidence of which is the establishment of two mission stations in the rural section of his own church, both of which are in good working condition. One of which has built a neat and commodious church, and the other bids fair to reach the same point of growth; and

Whereas, notwithstanding that many of us have failed to give him the constant, loyal and con-

NEW STATE TAX COMMISSION

Governor Henderson Announces
Appointment of Thomas W.
Sims, B. W. Strassburger, and Frank C. Marquis.

Montgomery, Ala., July 7.—Governor Henderson late yesterday announced the appointment of a new State Tax Commission throughout. Thomas W. Sims, Mobile real estate man, was designated by the Governor as chairman of the Commission, succeeding John S. Mooring, of Anniston; B. W. Strassburger, of Montgomery, and Frank C. Marquis of Dothan, were named as the successors of Henry P. White and Judge A. Evans, associate Members of the Commission.

At the same time, Governor Henderson announced the appointment of R. W. Solomon, of Wetumpka, as Chief Clerk of the Convict Department. He succeeds Dan G. Trawick.

All the appointments, it was announced, will become effective Friday, July 9.

The new members of the State Tax Commission were active supporters of Governor Henderson during the recent gubernatorial campaign, as was Mr. Solomon, who formerly was rate clerk of the State Railroad Commission.

Consistent, active support and co-operation and encouragement which his own efforts deserved, nevertheless he has never faltered, never criticized and never complained, but to the contrary has continued to battle for the right, cheerfully and vigorously, and

Whereas, with his untiring support of the Bay Street church has been made a strong and useful organization for the cause of Christianity, and we are going to be deprived of his active co-operation and pleasant association in the future,

Resolved, be it resolved, That we hereby express to Brother Campbell our most sincere appreciation of his loyalty to his congregation and his church during the nine years of his ministry here, and of the inestimable contribution that he has made to the support and growth of the Bay Street church.

Resolved second, That in severing our pastoral relations with him we do so with sadness and regret, that we rejoice in the privilege of having had him as a pastor, and that we will miss his valuable counsel, both in and out of the pulpit, his pleasant association as a friend and neighbor, and his worth to us as a good citizen of our community.

Resolved third, That this shall be an expression to Mrs. Campbell of our love for her and our appreciation of the self-sacrificing manner in which she has worked for the best interests of the church and especially of the large measure which she has contributed to the success of the choir, by her singing, her guidance and her never failing attendance.

Resolved fourth, That we commend Brother Campbell and Mrs. Campbell and the Bay Street church to their new friends and

WHAT GROCERY CLERKS WILL DO SOMETIMES

Life in a grocery store is not a dream of eternal bliss.

Especially is this true when one has to contend with negro delivery boys, sometimes known as the bicycle squad.

Early this morning, with the telephone bell ringing every minute, and orders a-coming in rapidly, Joe Rollins, at Bush's Grocery store had to deal with a situation, the like of which makes young men become old early in life.

Every bicycle in the house was punctured and the chauffeur of the delivery truck, who had gone out on a trip, decided to take advantage of the opportunity and get breakfast.

In the meantime, Joe Rollins, who was holding down the fort, did not know what to do and had nothing to do it with. The bicycles all punctured, the auto truck gone, and customers hungry!

However, the situation was soon relieved.

Joe is convinced now that a man who works in a grocery store will swear and lie, pull up green corn, push young chickens in a creek, and dip soup with a fork.

Such is life in a busy grocery store.

Resolved fifth, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished Brother Campbell and his family by the Clerk of Dothan and that a copy be filed with the records of this church, and that a copy be forwarded to Dothan, Ala., for publication.

This is to certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the resolutions passed by the congregation of the Bay Street church, Hattiesburg, Miss., at a congregational meeting held Sunday, June 28, 1915.

New York, July 6.—Evelyn Thaw, announced by the State to testify against Harry H. Thaw, her husband, in the proceedings to determine his mental condition, reached New York today from her home in Chateaugay Lake, near Malone, N. Y., and announced she would stand on her constitutional rights and refuse to take the stand against her husband.

Deputy Attorney General Cook asserted that as the hearing was a civil proceeding the court could direct her to testify and that he would ask the court to do direct.

Mrs. Thaw's appearance did not bear out reports that she was suffering from nervous prostration. She looks extremely well.

"I have spent most of my time out of doors and feel splendid," she said to newspaper men when she alighted from her train.

"Are you going to testify at the present hearing?" she was asked.

"Take it from me," she replied with emphasis, "I am not. You come with me and I'll show you that it is no just."

She walked over to the high window and caught a glimpse of Lake Chateaugay. She would take a moment's rest, leaving at 9 o'clock tonight.

"Have you engaged counsel?" she was asked.

"No, I don't want any," she said. "I have stayed this long."

And she flashed the document in her hand.

"And will he in court today? But I know my constitutional right and cannot be made to testify."

Governor Henderson does not speak or sing, he just saws wood.

Many a fellow who has stood in the limelight has been later handed a lemon.

A cat may have nine lives but he hasn't anything on a false rumor.

Ever notice that your stamps manage to give out most every time the postoffice has a holiday?

Pity the cranks couldn't be turned off before they dynamite or shoot somebody.

What's become of the old fashioned kaiser who said "Me und Gott"?

If it really costs England $13,000,000 a day to run that war, how long can she stand the cost?

Demolishing an evil may be good exercise but it fails to put a stop to very many great ones.

The rain has come over this immediate section, but there are places about the country where the rain hasn't fallen.

What's become of the old fashioned man who used to ask you "What's the good word," when he met you?

It begins to look as though the convening of the legislature on the 12th will be more than the Birmingham News can bear.

It may be that the man who shot Morgan is crazy but it is a sad thing to put him out of the way. It is too late when such a weak kills a man.

We presume that most of the readers a newspaper man has, come because of the newspaper. The newspaper is a hazardous investment.

The legislature is soon to meet and doubtless the two Whirling Dervishes are starting their head-dancing stunt, entitled: "How Would You Put 'em in Bed?"

The fines the courts impose on the judges are the only thing that keeps the laws from being flouted in that

The last time the Liberty Bell was sent out of Philadelphia to St. Louis, it was said that was its last trip. Now it is journeying to the Pacific coast, where thousands will have a look at the famous bell.

Think what an investigating committee would find if it were to hold on five or six months longer, as the youngest of the Whirling Dervish Sisters fears. Well, so far, no one is running the committee except those who got turned up and are forming trouble.

The Atlanta Constitution says freedom of the press is unknown in Germany. The Constitution didn't seem to be free to publish much concerning the Frank commutation and the subsequent naming of an enraged people because of it, and it's a long long way from Germany.

We residents of Dothan who have to spend the long hot days of summer at home, contented with looking at the resort advertisements in the Sunday papers, have discovered that we have fewer flies and mosquitoes this summer than any previous summer for years. We are becoming more sanitary, probably, and the boys and girls who go to school, are learning something worth while about sanitation and hygiene, all of which helps to cut down the number of flies and mosquitoes. Getting along in this world comfortable is merely a matter of knowing how, after all.

You know if you took the states of Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, South, and North Carolina and Florida, and put their cotton industry clean out of business, and the rest of the states would be prosperous, till they come to buy cotton products. And those other states have successful farmers who don't raise cotton. It isn't a good idea to think of quitting cotton for good. The world must have cotton, and can pay for it, but when cotton cost you more than you get for it, then don't sell it. Make something that costs you less than what you can get for it.

Becker's lawyer is going before the Supreme Court and raise the point in his behalf that Becker was deprived of a constitutional right in not having an impartial executive deal finally with his case. Governor Whitman was the district attorney who secured Becker's conviction, and the point will be made that he is prejudiced against Becker on account of his connection with the case as district attorney. It is an interesting point and if it moves the court to favor Becker why could not the same point have been raised by the state of Georgia in the Frank case? The state could contend that as Governor Slaton was a partner in the law firm that defended Frank he was therefore unduly favorable to Frank and prevented the law from being carried out. In other words was Governor Slaton, because of his connection with the law firm that defended Frank in such an environment as to cause the obstruction of justice instead of seeing that it was carried out? But in some instances it is a poor rule that works both ways, and this is probably one of those instances.

Of General Interest to Farmers.

Diversifying doesn't mean planting something you know nothing about.

It means in its broader term the planting of various kinds of truck on the farm, and in short not putting all the eggs in one basket.

But we would advise no one to plant anything with the expectation of making money out of it, if it had to be marketed as soon as it was gathered. There are many things one can make money out of, in the perishable line but they are not safe unless marketing arrangements are made in advance.

Here in this section, watermelons do well, and as a rule turn out satisfactory to the farmers. Cantaloupes would do well, when the arrangements are made to sell them, but the local market wouldn't take care of very many cantaloupes.

Irish and sweet potatoes are safe, but you don't make much money off them unless you know how to keep them till the price suits you. If they must be sold as soon as harvested, then the price will be low.

But potatoes can be kept in this section as easily as they can be kept in other sections, and there is a steady demand for them all through the year.

The greatest work that could be done in Dothan just at this time, is one for the banker and business man. If they will get together and arrange a market for the various products we can grow in this county, then the farmer can be induced to grow it. When the supply merchant, or the banker, tells the farmer that a certain article can be sold for a certain price, and that it has been practically fixed, then that farmer will not mind taking a shot at it, especially when he considers that this is about his last crop of cotton before the invasion of the boll weevil.

You probably didn't know that California peas are being sold in Houston county now. They are sold here, because this crop doesn't make enough peas to supply the demand. You know how much trouble it is to make peas. They are seldom sold for less than $1.75 a bushel. But when Houston county ships peas a couple of thousand miles and pays the freight on them, you know there are folks who want peas. The home market should be supplied by the home farmer. When did you ever hear of a farmer having a few hundred bushels of peas on hand that he couldn't sell at a good price?

Our lands are too good in this county to think of suffering from boll weevil. We can produce too many other things the world must have and is willing to pay a big price for.

Only about eight of the states grow cotton. The farmers in the other states do very well. They don't raise cotton. We could raise in almost every instance, just what they raise, and two crops usually.

This time another year, the progressive merchants of Dothan will likely be buying boll weevils by the quart, at the hundred and it will be a mighty good investment, too.

A Chance to Sell Out.
Emporia Gazette.
Samuel G. Walker, a wealthy liquor dealer of West Virginia, has offered to pay the state's debt of $12,795,929, with interest and to set aside a half million dollars each year to be used by the state in permanent improvements if the state will give him the sole right to sell liquors within West Virginia for ten years.

"What an attractive proposition it is," says the Wichita Beacon. "It would be worth all told counting the interest $25,000,000 to West Virginia in ten years just that much money picked up, its long standing debt wiped out and $5,000,000 added to its public improvement fund. West Virginia isn't a big state and here is a chance to get rich in ten years without effort. What's the matter with the proposition, anyway?"

"Everybody knows it will not be accepted. As recently as fifteen years ago it might have been accepted, because then $25,000,000 is now recognized scientifically as a part of the profits and only a small part at that, which Mr. Walker would make on the spread of disease."

"It would be the price which West Virginia would receive for the reduced efficiency of her manhood, for the lowering of her moral standard, for the impoverishment of many of those in her state who are now fairly well-to-do and living within their incomes."

"If Mr. Walker could have his own way in West Virginia for ten years, he could in that period do more harm to the citizens of West Virginia than the German armies did to the citizens of Belgium since the war opened."

"And for this reason everybody knows that West Virginia will not accept Mr. Walker's offer, tremendous as it is in its proof of the large profit that could be made in the liquor business if it were given the sanction of a state law."

How often you hear that said about shoes, or clothes, or food.

It's much more true when applied to drugs and drug-store merchandise—on most of which far more vital things depend than mere good looks or pleasure.

Did you ever think of that? When health—perhaps life itself—is in question, the best is not only the cheapest—it's the SAFEST.

ACCENTS RIGHT AND WRONG

In the End Matter Seems to Come Down to a Question of Usage and Custom.

The Office Window is asked why people insist on accenting the words "ally" and "allies" on the first syllable instead of the second. There is no dictionary authority for the pronunciation of ally, with accent on the first syllable, except that the Century dictionary, which admits all the new and alternative pronunciations, says in parenthesis, after giving the regular pronunciation al-ly, "often al-ly," accent on first syllable.

One very seldom, in this country, hears the accent of the substantive "ally" placed on the second syllable, where it belongs, though the verb "to ally" is always accented on the second syllable. The reason for the current mispronunciation is plain—it follows the universal tendency in this country to accent a word of two syllables on the second when it is used as a verb, and on the first when it is used as a noun. This tendency makes many people say "his address is 203 Broadway," though there is no authority for accenting this word, at any time, on the first syllable; while they say, "you may address me at 203 Broadway." The same American tendency causes most people to accent the verb "construe" on the second syllable; it should be accented on the first.—New York Mail.

TALLEST COP IN A PINCH

While Pursuing a Delinquent Small Boy Policeman Gets Stuck Under Church.

His earnest effort to arrest William Gadis, fourteen years old, of 760 Pine street, who had been sleeping under a mission at Ann and Chestnut streets, Camden, caused Policeman George Donovan to become a prisoner, wedged under the little church. Donovan, who is the tallest man on the Camden police force, was told that Gadis was under the mission, and when the boy failed to respond to calls to surrender the big policeman went after him.

He had crawled about fifteen feet when he found he was unable to move in either direction. Policeman Richard Cornog was told of his big comrade's predicament, and he hurried to his assistance. It was with difficulty that Donovan was released.—Philadelphia Record.

OPPOSE NEW LUNACY LAW.

There is likely to be considerable opposition to the mental treatment bill, which is down for second reading in the house of commons, says the London Globe. The idea that mental cases among wounded soldiers should be treated in hospitals and nursing homes without the necessity for formal certification under the lunacy acts is commendable enough in itself, but there are very great and obvious dangers in the proposal. In effect, the act would place the liberty of the individual at the mercy of executive officials, besides introducing into English law that dangerous provision of an old but still extant Scottish act under which mental "cases" may undergo detention for six months, on the authority of a single medical man, and without provision for any legal procedure or appeal. It cannot be said that the measure is of so urgent a nature as to require being rushed owing to national emergencies. The law relating to lunacy is of so delicate a nature that it would be in the highest degree undesirable to make the slightest change merely as the result of war conditions.

IT WAS A LOVELY SUNDAY

Which Was the Simple Explanation of Why Mr. Wobblits Did Not Make His Train.

Stimville's polite agent leaned against a Baughn unbreakable trunk (adv.) and regarded expressionlessly the gentleman who was waiting for a train. For two hours and thirteen minutes by his cheap but dependable Reebury watch (adv.) he had been expressionlessly regarding the same gentleman as he paced impatiently and every now and then looked either at his pocket timetable or his gold Elkhanger timepiece (adv.).

Finally Wangeheaver Wobblits (for such was the impatient gentleman's name) strode over to the polite station agent. Yes, it was the famous factious Wangeheaver Wobblits, whose killing remarks had been the life of so many dinner parties. "My man," said Wobblits in his best manner, "is this a railroad station or a perpetually endowed waiting room?" "It's a railroad station, sir," answered the polite station agent. "Well, then, do the trains run on tracks or speculation?" demanded Wobblits.

"On tracks, sir," replied the polite station agent. "Well, then, how is it that I've been waiting here ever since two o'clock for the 2:13 train, and it's now 4:15, and no train yet. Take a look at this timetable and at this watch, please, and tell me why?" The polite station agent looked as requested and then said softly, "Because that's a weekday timetable, sir."

It was a lovely Sunday.—Indianapolis Star.

An exhaustive investigation into 3,000,000 fires insured during the last 24 years was recently completed by the life insurance companies. Arthur H. Huxley, a New York actuary, reporting some of these findings to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents in New York city, said they showed that "the loss of 500,000 men in the present war could be made good in less than ten years through complete abstinence from alcoholic beverages by the inhabitants of Russia."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

The following figures are given by a writer in economics: In 188 days there are (24 hours to the day) 5,770 hours. The church is open on an average of 600 hours a year, the schools about 1,300 hours, the average factory about 2,400 hours, and the average business concern about 2,800 hours, while the saloon and other like resorts are open about 4,725 hours.

SAME OLD PROBLEM.

The problem that faces us today is the problem all ages have wrestled with, and the pen of history has yet to record its perfect solution, that of causing the individual to accept in his life the ideas and the ideals that mark the trail of an advanced civilization.—Mrs. Amy C. Deech, National W. O. T. U. organizer.

GOOD JOB FOR BOYS.

CONFIDENCE IN PHYSICIANS.

THE KAISER'S HANDWRITING.

The favored few with whom the German emperor deigns to correspond find his writing almost, and sometimes wholly, undecipherable. The kaiser's is what is known in boys' schools as "large hand," and the letters are formed neatly perpendicularly.

Since his memorable visits to England in 1891 and 1907, says the London Standard, many of his misadventures have found their way to London, to Leather castle, and to other parts of the country. That the emperor has a remarkable command of our language was seen by his long letter to the late Lord Tweedmouth, which was recently made public. It contained only a very few minor faults in spelling and in the construction of sentences.

MRS. DAYS.

Laughing, she met the days that danced to meet her,
And kissed them on the lips, in comradeship;
All spring bloomed new to joy her, sweeter, sweeter;
Each day came tripping to Youth's piping, fleet;
She laughed out in abandon—Life was good.
One day brought Love; a later brought sweet mating;
And after long days drifted, like a kiss,
The sweetest day, and whispered to her fating
A sweeter still: "You help God in creating A soul." She smiled: "No day brought joy like this."
—Mary Carolyn Davies.

THE HAPPY GIRL.

Helen's smile is bright as sunshine,
Helen's eyes are happy-clear,
Common little cares and worries
Never seem to touch my Dear;
Helen's walk is blithe as dancing
And her voice with gladness rings,
Yet she is no pet of Fortune—
She is pleased with little things

Helen's sympathy is welcome
As fair weather after rain,
Griefs and troubles that are told her
Never seem as bad again;
Old folks love to have her with them,
Every child adores and clings,
Happiness springs up around her,
She is pleased with little things.

Wondrous raptures come but seldom,
Ecstasy is bought with tears,
Rainbow dreams that Youth goes seeking
Seem to vanish with the years;
Fame is often disappointing.
Riches, we are told, have wings,
So life's greatest gift I count it:
To be pleased with little things.

numerous Japanese lanterns were fashioned between the trees.
Progressive conversation occuried, which was graciously pre-

At the close of a most enjoya-tained in yesterday afternoon at her lovely home on South St.

The house was beautifully decorated in pink and white.

The birthday cake was beautifully embossed in pink roses and the five pink candles were burning. Much fun resulted from the children trying to blow out the candle.

Punch was served throughout the evening by Miss Minnie Cave and Miss Bess Henderson. Late in the afternoon cream was served and the cake was cut.

Just before leaving a beautiful pink Jack Horner pie was brought out with pink ribbons hanging, each child pulled a ribbon, thereby receiving souvenirs of the occasion.

About twenty-four little guests enjoyed this delightful affair.

FRENCH SURGEON WON PRIZE

Professor Guermontprez Won Second Prize in Overcoming "After Stiffness" Following Wounds.

What is called "after stiffness," or the condition of immobility in joints and muscles which so often follows the healing of a fracture or wound, is one of the most difficult problems which confront medical men treating the wounded in Great Britain and in France. The treatment is a matter of especially grave concern to the subject himself, since on the result depends his future usefulness as a soldier or as a worker.

At the military hospital in Calais Professor Guermontprez of Lille university has received much praise for the treatment employed by him, not a new one, but one which has been very successful. He begins his treatment of "after stiffness" while the healing is going on and before the stiffness has in reality set in. Special splints are used on all broken bones. They are made of very light wood and are not allowed to interfere with the movement of any joint. Massage is an important part of Professor Guermontprez' treatment.

In cases where the patients have been submitted to long exposure before any treatment is possible a special apparatus known as mechanotherapeutic apparatus is used. At the military hospital in Calais, as in many others, special workrooms and forges have been installed in the basement, where instruments are constructed to loosen rigid joints at various parts of the limbs.

DREAMS THEY INDUCE SLEEP

Charles Braddon Shows or Tells a Story of a Sleepless Night After Thought Given It.

Mr. Addington Bruce makes the sensible suggestion that the best way to go to sleep is not to worry about one's inability to sleep. Doubtless this refusal to worry may be cultivated. But man is a curious creature, and sleep is an odd sort of phenomenon.

The general view is that activity involves the using up of material and the accumulation of waste products, so that the machine of the body gets clogged. Then the machine has to be slowed down so as to enable the cleansing and renewing to be carried on. But people can sleep without being greatly fatigued, and it is possible to be too tired to sleep.

A French psychologist suggests that sleep is an active defensive instinct. We go to sleep before there is an overpowering need. The presence of fatigue poisons in the blood simply make us take a deeper interest in sleep. If something overcomes that interest—exciting news, for instance—then the inclination to sleep disappears. But when our interest in sleep is promoted by the action of waste products on the system, then we are asleep before we know it.

SPLENDID HARBOR OF BAHIA

Brazilian City Has Facilities for Shipping That Are Said to Be Exceeded by Few.

"The first glimpse of South America and of the tropics which the traveler from the United States gets is at Bahia, Brazil, a city of 300,000 inhabitants," said Robert H. Veitch, a wealthy cattle raiser of South America. Bahia is the second largest city of Brazil.

"Our bay is the finest in the world. 100 kilometers around and deep and safe for vessels of all tonnages," he said. "It is not as beautiful or romantic as that of Naples and Sorrento, but, from a distance, it has many points of resemblance with the famous Italian shores. But let me tell you about the land. The scenery, the buildings, the costumes of the people and the vegetation are unfamiliar; one feels suddenly transported into the midst of a new, strange world, and is naturally anxious to begin exploring at once and to become acquainted with it."

"We are building a dock there two miles long. We have no boulevard worthy of the name. We have a church for every day, even in leap year, 366."

BLACK OPALS.

The display of opals and precious stones is a fascinating feature of the Australian exhibit at the San Francisco fair. It includes case after case of the black opals peculiar to Australia and a discovery of the last decade.

"Concentrated sunset" someone has called them, and it really is a good description for the blues and greens and flame tints rival anything nature can boast of in the color line. They combine the oriental sheen of the peacock and the gold of the desert sunset.

One magnificent specimen named "The California Poppy" is like a sea of living flame. There are some specimens that symbolize the storms of life, so full are they of the lights and amber shades of cloudland.

Diamonds also are a product of Australia. Sapphires, blue, white and yellow, form another array. Emeralds, rubies and garnets are also a part of the lure of the jewel cases of the commonwealth.

DIRECTIONS.

"And when shall I take the sleeping draft, doctor?"

"CATTALO" GIVES GOOD MEAT

Results of Series of Experiments in Crossing Buffalo and Domestic Cows.

"If scientific breeding could have been employed by our forefathers the country would not be up against the problem of how to increase the meat supply," said Frank A. Conrad of Montana at the Raleigh, according to the Washington Post. "Instead of pure beef, however, the people likely would be eating the meat of the cattalo, a cross between the buffalo and the domestic cow. The first experiments of crossing the buffalo and domestic cow were made more than a decade ago by 'Buffalo' Jones. He demonstrated that the cattalo was superior as a meat producing animal to the American steer. Other experiments were carried on by Charles Goodnight in Texas, and Messam Boyd in Ontario, Canada. All of the experiments have shown that the cross produces a much more valuable animal for meat purposes than straight breeding."

"The great advantage of the cattalo lies in the hump, which is one of the characteristics transmitted by the buffalo in the cross breeding. This hump is not a mass of fat, as is popularly supposed, but is formed by neural spines in length fully double those of domestic cattle, and also by huge muscles which lie alongside and fill up the angle between the neural spines and the ribs. In a rib roast of beef these muscles constitute the upper cut. I have partaken of a hybrid roast with an upper cut nine inches deep."

LEARNING MENTAL HYGIENE.

At a conference on mental hygiene in Albany, N. Y., recently, the first gathering of its kind in that state, emphasis was laid not only on the need for understanding the causes of insanity, the danger of alcohol and syphilis, and the perils threatening children of mentally defective or diseased parents, but also on the means for preventing insanity.

The conference urged increased facilities for housing and caring for those suffering from mental disease, and for extended social service, that the environment as well as the health of patients may be improved. A carefully prepared exhibit and a series of moving pictures illustrated these needs of the state and some methods of meeting them.

IN ALL OUR NEIGHBORHOOD

There is hardly a woman who does not rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dothan, Ala.—"I had inflammation, my backache in the back of my neck and a weakness all caused by female trouble, and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with such excellent results that I am now feeling fine. I recommend the Compound to all. I shall be glad to have you publish my letter. I am a neighbor around me."—Mrs. J. E. Jones, 111 N. 4th St., Dothan, Ala.

My experience as a mother, Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound is a great help to all women with female trouble. I took it through the change of seasons and I always recommend it to all my neighbors. I can help you. I am a neighbor around me."—Mrs. J. E. Jones, 111 N. 4th St., Dothan, Ala.

HOARD SUPPLIES OF COPPER

Germany Making Use of Other Materials—British Ate Kippers After Mud Was Scraped Off.

A Belgian officer, during a brief holiday from the trenches on the Yser, told a London Daily Express representative that the buttons on the coats of all the German soldiers recently captured by the Belgians are made of bone instead of copper, while the time fuses of German shells are now exclusively made of aluminum.

Private George Gallon, who is serving in the trenches at La Bassée, writing to his sister in Leeds, says: "We had four kippers for breakfast in the trench, and the Germans started to shell us while they were cooking. One shell hit the front of the trench and filled the frying pan full of dirt. So we had to scrape the kippers before eating them, but they were quite all right."

An Austrian officer taken prisoner by the Serbians was highly indignant because he was carried to prison in an oxcart—the usual mode of conveyance in Serbia. He declared: "When you have the honor of taking an Austrian officer prisoner you should at once escort him to headquarters in a motor car." The Serbian replied: "We have that honor many times, but we haven't so many motor cars."

AN ERRATIC MOVIE.

"Tippler reminds me of a moving picture."
"How?"
"Coming home from the club in seven reels."

FATHER'S WORRY.

"I suppose you worry a good deal lest your daughter marry the wrong man?"
"Not so much as I do for fear she may not marry at all."

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

"That woman walking on the other side of the street is my betel noire."
"Oh, no, she isn't. That's Bel Jones."

PAW GOT IT RIGHT.

Little Lemuel—What's a cynic, paw?
Paw—A cynic, son, is a busybody who meddles in the affairs of other people and neglects his own.

HAVE DARK HAIR

AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old time recipe, ready to use for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.

MOTHBALLS A WAR LUXURY

Price of Pungent Mothballs Has Been Quadrupled Since Hostilities Began.

The war has affected various household and commercial necessities in the past nine months, but who for an instant thought that the common mothball would become a luxury? Such is the case, however, and the housewife is just beginning to realize that there is not only a dearth in the supply, but that they have increased almost four times in price. And right in the middle of housecleaning period and packing away of the winter furs and garments she is learning it to her dismay. To the pawnbroker and storage house proprietor this is also unwelcome news.

Before the war mothballs were as cheap as clothespins. Then it was that Mrs. Homelody could run around to the corner drug store about this time of the year and buy six pounds for a quarter. Now that amount will buy her but a little more than a pound of the pungent crystallized balls.

All this, wholesale dealers in pharmacists' supplies say, is due to the war, and they explain it in this manner: Before the war England sent to this country most of the naphthalene, of which mothballs are made. Since last August not a shipment has been made.

THE STYLE.

"How do they serve meals from that lunch wagon?"
"I don't know exactly, but I suppose they serve them a la cart."

CORRECT.

"Tommy, I've written on the blackboard, 'Three large apples.' Now, where's the verb?"
"I guess it's in your mind, wa'am."

LOOKED NEW TO HIM.

Randolph—Is that Buxton's new girl with him?
Sylvester—Oh, no; that's just one of his old ones painted over.—Judge.

THE WAR GOD.

Bix—By the way, who is, or, rather, was, the god of war?
Dix—I've forgotten the duffer's name, but I think it was Ananias.

THE KIND.

"Did that actor who thinks so much of himself get any notice in his last performance?"

CALOMEL DYNAMITES YOUR LIVER! 'MAKES YOU SICK AND SALIVATES

"Dodson's Liver Tonic" Starts Your Liver Better Than Calomel and You Don't Lose a Day's Work

Live up your sluggish liver! Feel fine and cheerful; make your work a pleasure; be vigorous and full of ambition. But take no nasty, dangerous calomel because it makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the liver. Calomel crashes into your bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

Listen to me! If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working; headache and dizziness gone; stomach will be sweet and bowels regular.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children. Millions of people are using Dodson's Liver Tonic instead of dangerous calomel now. Your druggist will tell you that the sale of Calomel is almost stopped entirely here.
